

The Scientifically Intuitive
Case Witnessing Process
The Journey of Three Steps

Dr. Dinesh Chauhan
Oomphoo

Philosia Publications

Foreword by Misha Norland

Conveying the true simplicity of the homeopathic process from listening to acting, and with a background of philosophical enquiry underpinning the whole, is the great task that this book tackles. This is no mean task, and takes one who looks deeply to pull it off. Dr. Dinesh Chauhan has done this with insight and humour. This new book from his now seasoned hand, is a delight to read, for it is clear and insightful, and carries the reader along to remember perennial truths as well as receiving practical advice and instruction about how to be a homeopath in practice. Intuitively scientific is exactly what the author puts across, blending both approaches in a manner that puts a smile upon what can otherwise become an over-serious face. Thanks for a lovely book!

Misha Norland

Founder of the School of Homeopathy (U.K.)

Foreword by Harry van der Zee, MD

We can look at the development of homeopathy as a relay race in which the baton is being handed over from master to pupil, from the old generation to the new. Some in homeopathy strongly believe we should strictly adhere to this image. Stay exactly in the same track and pass the baton exactly on as it has been handed on to you. In this 'mach es genau nach' race the homeopathic athlete is not only running against the allopathic team – a group of runners following a wrong track in which they pass on a malign message – but also against homeopaths that pass on false messages while following diverted tracks.

India has a beautiful tradition of passing on ancient wisdom while keeping the old masters in the highest possible respect. In his work Dinesh is showing that honouring ones teachers not excludes, but to the contrary includes, a search for new insights and techniques that can further improve the treasure that has been received.

In the Case Witnessing Process that he has developed from the rich sources that were to his disposal we find the witness of true understanding – profound insight explained in a simple way and presented systematically. Dinesh does justice to his teachers – first his patients, then his main source Rajan Sankaran, then many others – by elaborating on what they have passed on to him. May many readers and students pass on a similar (never the same!) honour to him. Learn from this work and then add your own unique talents.

Harry van der Zee, MD

Editor-in-chief of Homoeopathic Links

The Netherlands, June 2011

Contents

Author's Acknowledgements

My Journey into the Case Witnessing Process

Oomphoo (an Introduction)

Section I

1. The Missing Link: The Traditional Classical View Versus the Contemporary Classical View

2. The Key to Everything in Homoeopathy: Individualisation at the Holistic Level

3. Understanding the Human Core in Light of Individualistic Expression at the Holistic Level

4. The Definition of the Case Witnessing Process (CWP)

Section II

5. The Three Steps of the Case Witnessing Process: A Radical View

Practical Illustrations

Case 1. I Am a Risk-Taking Material

Case 2. I Am Nothing

Case 3. Exhilaration Going Up and Down

6. The Three Steps of the Case Witnessing Process: The Extended Journey

7. Steps in Search of the Simillimum

Practical Illustrations

Case 4. Nothing Can Crumble Me Down

Case 5. Cocooned In One Particular Spot

Case 6. Something Is Caught From the Inside

Case 7. I Feel Totally Shut

Section III

Cases by My Colleagues

Case 1. I Can't Be a "Mother Hen"

Case 2. I Feel Inferior

Case 3. Jumping Legs

Section IV

8. Healing the Healer

9. The Story of a Healer

10. Conclusion or a New Beginning

11. Oomphoo Concludes...

Section V

Summary of the Case Witnessing Process

Testimonials about the Case Witnessing Process

About the Author